ARE DARING FIGHTERS.

(Atlanta Journal.)

For two years Wylie Smith fought with the rebels in Mexico. No one knows the Mexicans better than he—no one knows the country and the conditions of warfare better.

"Two things we must keep in mind —the Mexican climate—the heat that withers a white man—and the certainty that Mexicans, instead of fighting in the open, will take to the mountains, where artillery can't penetrate, and there are the places men afoot must pick their way," said Wylie Smith.

"Reaching down into Western Mexico are the Sierra Madre Mountains, the Mother's Teeth they mean literally, which are a continuation of the Rocky Mountains. They rise in broken and high peaks in the counties of Sonora, Chihuahua, Durango, Sinaloa and Guerrero.

"During a let-up in our fighting, when I was down there I got news that the Pacific Coast Magazine could use a story about Zapata, a name which means 'Shoe,' the man who made it his business always to fight against the Government, and the fellow who had himself fortified in the hill in a way that reminded me of the Doones. But I didn't see any Lorna there.

"He had 3,500 men camped in a place in the mountains that made a perfect dipper. There was only one way of getting in and going out, and it was a passage only about 50 feet wide, narrow, rugged, steep, up which a man could climb only slowly. And Zapata had machine guns trained on this mountain pass and obstacles in the way until he, with his 3,500 men, could have held off 100,000.

"I don't see how you could attack the fellow, except with airplanes. They are about the only way of getting at him.

"And believe me he's a fighter. His trade is fighting, just as that of the other mountain bandits. When a rebellion is started he joins with the rebels. When it succeeds he starts another rebellion.

"On the way up a guide I had told me a story about the 'Shoe' that wasn't nice to hear when I was soon to be Zapata's guest.

"Zapata demanded tribute from a rich rancher in that neighborhood.
The fellow answered with courtesies, but no money.

"He woke up next morning with Zapata at his front door. He found himself the next afternoon tied to a post in the middle of a bull pen, his body out of reach, but his legs low enough to be gored.

"Red cloth was tied around the fellow's legs and soldiers were set to torturing a bull. The beast was turned loose in the pen and saw the red cloth on the post. Maybe you can guess what happened. The flesh was gored from the man's legs and he died as he hung on the post.

"Did I say that Zapata had brought the rancher's wife to the edge of the pen and made her sit there?

"That explains to you what those fellows are—utterly merciless, some of them not human. But this fellow Zapata was partly a Guero Indian and that helps to explain him.

"A dry, dark-faced, meager, impassive and yet nervous man I found him. And he insisted—it seemed funny to me—that he be quoted correctly. He didn't want people to get a wrong impression of him.

"I want to impress the fact that Mexicans are not cowardly; that they fight well in their own way, and that they can shoot.

"To illustrate: I'd been with the rebels about a year when they chose me to pick out 30 sharpshooters from 100 soldiers. I had them set up a tra-get at 1,000 yards and put them to firing at it. Not a man made less than 30 per cent. Over half of them got better than 45 per cent. and the fellow who was selected as Sergeant got 70 per cent. That man would have killed seven out of ten soldiers at 1,000 yards.

"I remember a time when a small force of our rebels attacked a town as a ruse, then retreated, and the Federals came after us. Our men drew the pursuers into a small, narrow pass with thickets on both sides.

"They swarmed into the pass, packed it full of men, then we opened fire.
Not one of them got away. We shot down 300 in that place. It's something like this the Mexicans would like to try on our men."

QUESTION CLEARED UP.

Paris Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

Again and again we have read of strangers in distant towns who have been cured by this or that medicine.
But Paris' pertinent question has always been: "Has anyone here in Paris been cured?" The word of a stranger a hundred miles away may be true, but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

Mrs. Laura L. Lair, 1022 High St., Paris, Ky., says: "I had rheumatic pains and my kidneys were irregular in action. I suffered from backaches and headaches and at times was dizzy and nervous. A neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did.
They made me strong and well. I have had no sign of kidney trouble since and I gladly confirm the statement I gave praising Doan's Kidney Pills at the time the cure was made."

Mrs. Lair is only one of many Paris people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy —ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Lair had—

BUMPER FRUIT CROP FOR UNITED STATES THIS YEAR

General prospects for a large fruit crop this year, with the possible exception of peaches, have not been equalled at any time within the past decade, save in 1912, according to the report of the United States Chamber of Commerce's Committee on Statistics and Standards on the condition of fruit as of May 2 last.

The report deals with all fruits of commercial importance, including apples, peaches, pears, plums, prunes, grapes, oranges, lemons, grapefruit, strawberries, cherries and the like.

The committee reports that more or less damage has occurred in nearly all sections to fruits, but that, save in the case of peaches, it is not a matter of much moment. Severe cold snaps in the early spring caused considerable damage to peaches in many States, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas suffered heavily, the outlook in those States being for not over 25 per cent. of a normal crop.

More or less serious damage also was done in South Central Missouri, Southern Mississippi, Northwestern Alabama, South and East Texas, Southwestern Georgia, Western Kentucky, Western Tennessee, Southern Idaho and portions of North Carolina.

"Elsewhere," the committee finds, the outlook is so promising that, in general a crop of peaches approaching the normal seems more than a likelihood."

WHOOPIING COUGH.

"About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. I continued this treatment and was surprised to find that it cured the disease in a very short time," writes Mrs.
Archie Dalrymple, of Crooksville, O.

AUTOS IS LATEST PLAN

Courtland Leer, a manufacturer of Lexington, formerly of Paris, believes that he has solved the problem of substantial and inexpensive road construction for automobile travel, and he is preparing to give his plan a test on the county roads entering Lexington. Mr. Leer's plan is to construct a concrete track, corresponding to the rails of a railroad or street car line, only instead of steel rails his idea is to have concrete about 18 inches wide, with a slight depression in which the wheels of the auto will glide smoothly along. This arrangement, he claims, will furnish a solid, substantial track for automobiles, and will prevent the rest of the macadam section of the road being worn out by the speed of the cars. It will hold them in the grooved track.
These 18-inch wide strips of concrete, from 3 to 4 feet apart, will be much less expensive than to construct the entire roadway with asphalt or brick, as is being done with some of the country roads in the North, notably in the State of Ohio.

"There are lots of men whose idea of eternity is the space between one pay day and the next pay day.

Most men have to hustle to catch up on the time they spent loafing and this gives them a chance to yelp about how they are being over-worked.

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

you have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, while, if neglected, this condition often foreruns more serious trouble.

If those so afflicted would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which menace the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to pulsate through the organs, refresh their bodies and build up the whole nervous system. It is rich, sustaining nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or drugs. Shun substitutes.
